

VRS is vital for the deaf community to actualize its maximum abilities and become a valuable contributing part to a productive American Society. Anything less than this full access to the mainstream society hinders the deaf community giving back vocationally, socially, economically, and artistically. This also enables those who want to provide services and do business with this community of 28 million.